COMMENTARY ON NEW YORK LOCK-IN AGREEMENT

EXPIRATION DATE - RIGHT OF RESCISSION

While transactions subject to the right of rescission may result in timing differences between the closing date of a mortgage loan and the funding date (i.e. disbursement of funds) of a mortgage loan, most lenders honor the lock-in agreement if the loan closes by the expiration date. The Department believes that consumers benefit most from this approach since consumers usually do not draw a distinction between the closing and the funding of a loan. However, the Department recognizes that some lenders have a policy of requiring the actual funding to occur prior to the expiration date in order to cover the rescission period. Lenders that have such a policy must ensure that consumers are aware of this distinction by providing a clearly worded explanation in the lock-in agreement. In the absence of such an explanation, the Department will expect lenders to honor the closing date.

[INSTRUCTION - If you are a lender that will only honor the rate lock if the loan closes and is funded prior to the expiration date, you must delete the standard expiration clause contained in the model form and insert the following clause.]

"If this loan is for the refinance of your primary residence you will not receive the loan proceeds on the date of your closing. Therefore, your loan must close at least (3) three business days prior to the expiration date stated above or the Lender has no obligation to honor the terms of this agreement and this may result in a higher rate or more points being charged on your loan."
