Appointment Status: This is an appointment to a position in the exempt jurisdictional class.

Appointment to this position is pending Division of Budget approval to fill.

The Department of Financial Services (DFS) is seeking to fill the position of Financial Technology Attorney with significant experience in the emerging financial technology sector. Financial Technology (“fintech”) is evolving outside the traditional financial and banking system, largely driven by non-bank entities, including venture capital-backed fintech startups and emerging companies, as well as non-traditional providers. These entities are often experimenting in an unregulated environment. Fintech innovation changes a customers’ experience and expectations by promoting a client-centric and interactive approach to financial and banking services.

DFS seeks to evaluate existing rules to better address both the opportunities and challenges presented by new technologies, while simultaneously protecting consumers, markets, and investors. The selected candidate will assess risks from fintech innovation as they are identified and address them, while simultaneously promoting innovation and encouraging ongoing dialogue with the fintech industry. The candidate will examine existing regulations and draft proposals of new regulations to enable more effective supervision of the fintech sector. The ideal candidate will be able to analyze and compare the rapidly evolving domestic and global fintech legislative and regulatory frameworks, analyze legal questions arising under the Banking and regulatory laws relating to the financial industry, and effectively interact with state-chartered banks, licensed branches and agencies of foreign banking corporations, etc.

Qualifications:

Admission to the Bar of the State of New York and experience in the practice of law involving investigation and litigation of securities fraud and regulation of securities, commodities, and other business activities and products preferred. Demonstrates an in-depth knowledge in the fintech sector, financial markets, and has experience in the area of securities and investment products; risk assessment and cyber security. Candidates should possess excellent analytical, writing, and research skills.

Appointment method:

This is an appointment to a position in the exempt jurisdictional class. As such, the incumbent of this position would serve at the pleasure of the appointing authority.
