The New York Department of Financial Services seeks to build an equitable, more transparent and resilient financial system that benefits New Yorkers and supports business. Through engagement, data-driven regulation, and operational excellence, DFS is responsible for empowering consumers and protecting them from financial harm; ensuring the health and stability of the financial entities we regulate; and driving economic growth through responsible innovation.

DFS is seeking to fill the position of Information Technology Specialist 3 (Programming) in our Information Technology Unit to be responsible for system analysis, design, construction, testing, and implementation of a new application or application enhancement.

The incumbent will perform technical activities related to applications program development, program and system testing, improve software security, and business/systems analysis and design related to computer systems, systems maintenance and implementation in such areas as the design and development of database systems; dynamic, transactional, or interactive web sites; and agency specific applications programs. Duties include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Gathers, organizes, and performs preliminary analysis of information about costs/benefits, advantages/disadvantages, and technical feasibility of designing and implementing proposed systems;
- Participates in meetings and works with agency management, users, vendors, consultants, and IT staff to discuss IT solution options and assists in recommending appropriate system platforms for meeting program requirements;
- Assists with various design activities such as creating program specifications, workflow diagrams or structured charts, and logical data models;
- Ensures the security, safety, and efficiency of the product by using secure coding practices and components;
- Continuous code vulnerability management to ensure product and software is up to date;
- Writes or modifies the necessary code to affect approved system requirements or change orders;
- Participates in the testing phase of application development such as assisting in the development of test plans, test conditions and validation testing;
- Installs, configures, or customizes off the shelf software and ensures that the configuration meets system requirements;
- Assists in analyzing the impact of implementing new or modified systems on computer resources and other agency programs;
- Provides primary or secondary support on assigned applications or program areas;
- Participates in the selection and procurement processes for hardware, software, and maintenance;
- Creates and maintains documentation; and
- May supervise lower-level IT staff.

Preferred Qualifications

- At least 2 years of experience with:
 - Developing applications using J2EE, Java ServerFaces (JSF) or Primefaces Frameworks;
 - Minimum of 2 years of experience writing REST or SOAP based webservices; and
 - Using Apache Tomcat Server and Visual Basic for Applications.
- Hands on experience writing SQL or PL/SQL in an Oracle Database Environment.
- Minimum of 1 year of experience using the Linux operating system.
- Experience using a version control software such as GIT including code security review and remediation.
- Experience planning, tracking and managing software development projects using agile methodology and tools such as JIRA.
- Knowledge of information security protocols (i.e. CIS controls) and familiar with standards and security development tools.
